“I can relax knowing that every employee has access to the right documents: contract of employment, induction packs, health and safety and so on.”

GB Eye Limited

“We use h2r as a tool to communicate with staff based in our depots around the country. The Intranet allows the employees access to their own personnel file while the managers have management information at their fingertips. It's a good feeling to know that we are compliant with employment law. It's a great system.”

h2r online

A self-service staff management toolkit.

“h2r online is an internet-delivered staff management toolkit designed for use by you and your employees. It is easy-to-use and designed specifically for small and medium-sized businesses to remove admin hassle. It is a complete HR system in a box.”

- Jon Curtis, MD

- A powerful holiday manager for employees to see annual entitlements and make holiday requests online.
- An absence manager for employees to complete an online questionnaire on return from sickness, the data from which is collated into HR reports analysing absence patterns.
- A task manager which allows you to delegate tasks to employees and which gives them automatic reminders.
- A comprehensive guide on procedures: hundreds of up-to-date letters and forms - and tuition in how to use them.
- A communication tool to send and receive messages and documents, and see who has read them and when!
- The document manager to handle your important company documents: contract of employment, company handbook and so on.
- Thousands of pages of employment law advice; legislation and cases; and plain English explanations - all kept up to date.
- A secure online employee database of all employee information and records, accessible 24/7.
